

New Website Launched!

The Florida Bamboo Growers Association has now launched its new website and you can find it at this link: <https://fbgabamboo.com/>

As the website is restricted to use by its Members you will need to create a login as your first step. Once you submit this the website manager will check your member credentials and clear your access.

We envision the website as a representation of who we are as an industry, and our primary tool to learn, connect, stay informed and grow. We plan to post regular updates of industry activities so stay connected!
